

Traders Secure Resilient Access to HKEX

TNS can now provide Managed Hosting services and access to real time market data at the Hong Kong Exchanges and Clearing (HKEX). This infographic looks at why this is an important development for global financial market participants.

Hong Kong is One of the World's Foremost Financial Centers

HKEX is a major global gateway to trading and market data in Asia

It is the listing exchange for some of the world's largest companies, offers deeply liquid derivatives markets, and is a throughway to the mainland Chinese exchanges

TNS Delivers

Traders wishing to gain speed and cost efficiencies can collocate their trading infrastructure close to the HKEX matching engine

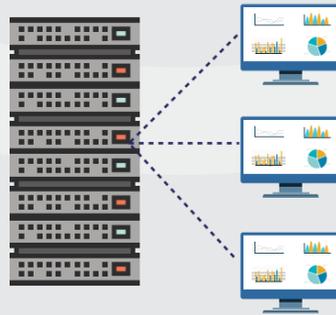

TNS' low latency infrastructure minimizes the number of switch hops between endpoints

Providing HKEX data means that TNS customers now have access to more than 60 global exchanges

This includes access to HKEX equities, commodities, fixed income and currency markets

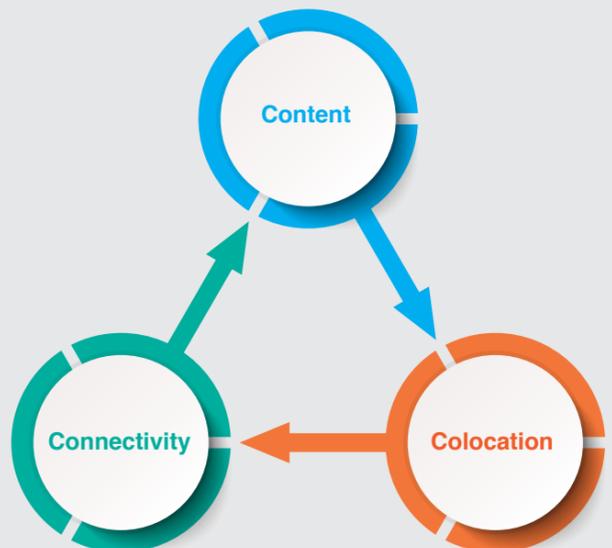

TNS can provide customers approved by the exchange with access to HKEX derivatives and securities market data through a shared hosting network service

This is in addition to full coverage for away market data from major North American and European equities and derivatives exchanges

Leveraging the 3Cs

TNS blends extensive global connectivity with an Infrastructure-as-a-Service (IaaS) platform to help traders simplify their operations through a single supplier relationship
