

The Ideal Partner to Connect to the B3 Exchange

Based in Sao Paulo, B3 S.A. (Brasil, Bolsa, Balcão) is Brazil's largest stock exchange and the world's third largest derivatives exchange. We are excited to announce that we have established a partnership with B3 to provide low latency connectivity, managed hosting and market data solutions to clients via the TNS network. Keep reading this infographic to find out more.

Servicing B3's Increasing Demand

TNS now offers managed hosting, market data and exchange access services for B3 through TNS' Layer 1 connectivity.

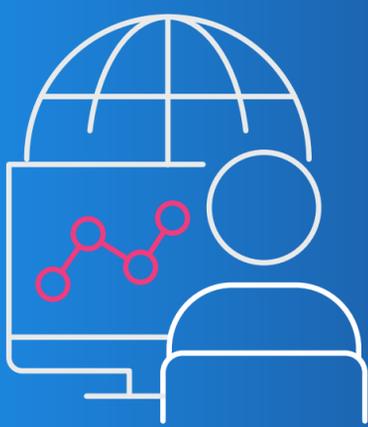

This network expansion enhances trading opportunities for US, European and other traders seeking optimized connections with the exchange.

Our ultra-low latency connectivity provides reliable trading, clearing and settlement operations across equities, derivatives and commodities.

The Opportunity for Traders

Did you know nearly 500 companies are listed on the B3 exchange and economic growth has accelerated with a projection of 3.2% GDP for 2023 in Brazil?

Trading execution, speed and infrastructure reliability are mission critical for expanding global access to B3.

However, it can be a challenge to acquire data center space and install hardware in Brazil, which is a process that often spans several months.

This is where TNS can help. We can deliver our full suite of services immediately with our ultra low latency trading infrastructure, thanks to pre-established data center equipment on-site that is fully operational.

TNS in Brazil

We are ready to lead clients globally through data center and market data deployments.

TNS has had an office in Brazil since 2019 for its 100+ employees in country and has been working with the B3 exchange since 2021 when it launched market data access for traders.

In another significant milestone in TNS' expansion in the region, we recently opened a new Latin American headquarters in João Pessoa, Paraíba, Brazil.

The combination of our local presence in Brazil and decades of financial exchange experience make TNS the ideal partner to connect clients to the B3 exchange. Contact our experts today to find out more.
